

Doubled-Up Homelessness

A term that describes individuals or families who avoid living on the streets by staying with friends or family.

This form of homelessness often results from economic hardship or housing loss and usually lacks a stable, permanent living situation.

